SANDERS SHOULD BE DEFEATED AT PRIMARIES

Members of the Nevada Bar association, individually, have started a warfare in an effort to defeat J. S. Sanders as a candidate for the non-partisan nomination to succeed himself as supreme court justice, and they lay down facts that seem to be indisputable why this jurist should be retired to private life. In advertisements that have appeared in the Bonanza papers, they stress upon the activities of Judge Sanders through the undisciplined manner in which he is conducting his campaign through personal suggestions and advertising in the various newspapers of the state, which, it is claimed, is beneath the dignity of a judicial candidate.

Sanders should be retired to private life and forever relegated from public office. He boasts in his advertisements of having "understood" and "defeated" the "underground" and "the people" and of being "organized by the ablest and hard working jurists in the west and that his independence is beyond question." At all the sessions at that ever emanated from a Nevada Bar association, Sanders is entitled to first prize, but the people will no longer be fooled and should follow the advice of the members of the Nevada Bar association who have recommended that the voters cast their ballots for SAMUEL SUMMERFIELD and GEORGE F. TALBOT vote for two, who are conducting their campaign in a dignified and non-partisan manner, and not following unethical procedures.

Attention of the voters is called to decisions of Judge Sanders in certain railroad cases where every one was decided in favor of the big corporations. They therefore ask that support be given to Summerfield and Talbot at the primary today, and then at the general election they vote for one or the other to fill the position now held by Sanders. To all of which the Bonanza says, Amen.

WOMEN SHOULD JOIN PARTY OF CHOICE

When women attained suffrage it was the advice of Mrs. Catt that they should go into the party of their choice and be active in it, having an influence on its policies—otherwise what was the use of the ballot? They had "indirect influence" before, and if they were to stay outside of the parties, they might as well not have the vote, says Frederick Riddick Boys.

As individuals, we have a certain influence—not very much among more than one hundred million people—but, joining with others, moving in the same direction we are going, we are a force which is not only the sum of the force of the individuals in it, but the group gains a certain additional momentum of its own.

Do you remember the Roman story of the bundle of sticks? It was easy to break one alone, but, bound together, they could not be broken.

Women's clubs discovered long ago that if one individual should suggest to the mayor that she would like a drinking fountain on the corner she would be ignored, but if the club appointed a committee to interview him on the subject, it would bring results.

So it is with a political party. Speaking for many, its voice is powerful. If the party is in authority, its voice is all-powerful, for the political party in power is, for the time being, the government.

You belong either to the governing class or the governed class. You take your choice—since the ballot is open to every adult citizen. It is told of Roosevelt, when a youth, that he suggested one evening going to a meeting of the ward politicians. Certain of his family remonstrated with him, saying, "They are a low class of persons, saloon-keepers and ignorant men." "Then," replied the young Roosevelt, "it is all the more necessary that I go. They are the governing class, for they are controlling politics. We who stay away permit them to govern. I intend to belong to the governing class."

The other day in an immense national park, I noticed there were no pedestrians, although walking was not forbidden, but about one would never get very far on the long stretches of winding road. With the immense complexities and problems of our great country, one-man effort is negligible. To get anywhere we must arm ourselves to modern, unorganized methods. That is a very easy thing to do. There is nothing exclusive about a political party. On the contrary, it is continually bidding for workers.

At this period the republican party is especially amenable to the efforts of women. Any earnest woman who wants to make her ballot of real use for the betterment of her home, her community and her nation, and who has a high altruistic purpose to serve her generation, will find a responsive field for her activities in the republican party. The republican party gave the ballot to women. It has already placed women in office in towns, states and nation. It nominated and elected the two only women who have thus far been members of the congress.

POSTAL SAVINGS ON UPWARD MOVE

Postal savings deposits, after registering a gradual decline for several months past, are on an upward movement in a number of the larger cities, according to figures announced by the post-office department today for the month of July as compared with the previous month.

Boston, Mass., easily topped the list of increases, showing a gain of $129,630 and crowding Chicago out of third place. The increase of deposits in Boston, however, has been steady for more than a year, amounting to $1,203,478. It is considered as a reaction to the Ponzi episode.

Atlantic City shows the second largest gain, having increased the June deposits by $35,000, while Kansas City is third with $32,360. Minneapolis is fourth with $19,000, while the postmaster reports another increase of $9,000 for the first two weeks in August as a result of a publicity campaign.

Postmaster Burton at Brooklyn reported 2,081 new accounts opened during the month, which is the first time since August, 1920, that the number of new accounts exceeded the number of accounts closed.

Buffalo stands fifth in amount of increase with $8,400; Manchester, N. H., sixth, with $7,000, and Great Falls, Mont., seventh, with $3,000.

Other cities showing smaller increases are Philadelphia, Portland, Ore.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Louisville, Ky.; Astoria, Ore.; Jamaica, N. Y.; Paterson, N. J.; Staten Island, N. Y.; Camden, N. J.; Pocatello, Idaho; Memphis, Tenn.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Williamsville, Conn.; San Diego, Calif.; Youngstown, O.; Breckenridge, Tex.; Ansonia, Conn.; Norfolk, Va.; Raymond, Wash.; Barre, Vt., and Fall River, Mass.

Did you ever run across a person who knew that he didn't know anything? Neither have we.

The nose to admire these days is the nose that keeps out of other people's business.
